DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-30, drawn to methods of constructing a cell-based hepatitis B virus replication assay.

Group II, claim(s) 31-34, drawn to nucleic acid primers.

Group III, claim(s) 35-36, drawn to a vector comprising hepatitis B virus genome under control of a heterologous promoter and cell comprising such vector.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: at least claim 31 of Group II is anticipated by Random Primer 24, sold by New England Biolabs (see page 121 of the 1998/99 NEB Catalog). Since this mixture was designed to comprise all possible 24 nucleotide primers, it would inherently comprise the sequences of SEQ ID NOS: 13, 14, 15 and 16 (each of which is either 23 or 24 nucleotides in length). Thus, Group II cannot share a special technical feature with Groups I and III. Additionally, at least claim 35 of Group III is anticipated by King et al (US 5,723,319). King teaches a vector for inducible expression of HBV in cultured cells (column 2, lines 48-67; column 11, lines 10-50). King expressly states the HBV pregenomic RNA is under transcriptional control of the tetCMV promoter (which is a heterologous promoter; column 11, lines 48-50). Since the promoter was cloned 5' of the HBV genome into SfiI and BspEI sites (column 11, lines 46-47), the limitations of claim 35 "a promoter modified in 5' by the presence of a restriction site in 5' of the +1 of transcription". Thus, Group III cannot share a special technical feature with Groups I and II.

Further Restriction Requirement Applicable to All Groups

Additionally, each group named above is subject to a further restriction. This application contains claims directed to one or more SEQ ID NOS (primers). Applicant is required to select four SEQ ID NOS to which said claims will be restricted (which will allow for the practice of the methods, which require 2 forward and 2 reverse primers, as well as for the kit of claim 34). This is NOT an election of species. Nucleotide sequences are structurally distinct chemical compounds and are unrelated to one another. These sequences are thus deemed to normally constitute independent and distinct inventions within the meaning of 35 U.S.C 121. Absent evidence to the contrary, each such nucleotide sequence is presumed to represent an independent and distinct invention, subject to restriction requirement pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 121 and 37 CFR 1.141. By statute, "[i]f two or more independent and distinct inventions are claimed in one application, the Commissioner may require the application to be restricted to one of the inventions." 35 U.S.C. 121. Pursuant to this statute, the rules provide that "[i]f two or more independent and distinct inventions are claimed in a single application, the examiner in his action shall require the applicant...to elect that invention to which his claims shall be restricted." 37 CFR 1.142 (a). See also 37 CFR 1.141(a). The search and examination of all sequences would pose an undue burden on the PTO search resources.

However, if Applicant elects Group I, and the methods are or become allowable over the prior art for reasons not based on the sequence of the primers, the examiner will consider rejoinder of the non-elected SEQ ID NOS (primers).

Due to the complex nature of the requirement being imposed, a written requirement for restriction is being sent in lieu of a telephone call (MPEP 812.01).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to SAMUEL WOOLWINE whose telephone number is (571)272-1144. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon-Fri 9:00am-5:00pm.
